The 'etter follows: "White House, Washington, May 14.

My Dear Brisbane: "When you were at the White House offices today, I forgot to ask you to send me the Chicago Herald and Examiner regularly to my offices here. "The men have instructions to watch particularly for misrepresentation of quality and for short weight," said he. "I think I will place two extra men there after nightfall to watch the sidewalk dealers, come of whom will probably try to sell inferior goods after dark."

The food administrator asks that consumers who have not been treated fairly at the market, report to the food office Monday the names of the dealers. Action which may result in closing some of the stands has already been started as a result of complaints.

The Obvious Thing

A manufacturer having important Government contracts recently needed several thousand wood-workers. He had to have them in a hurry. So he sent his agents to carry the word through the factories in the towns around him, and by dint of much persuasion and effort, succeeded in filling his ranks.

But—he left the working forces of these other manufacturers from whom he took these men, in very bad shape.

President's Statement

"Industry plays as essential and hon-orable a role in this great struggle as do our military asmannents. We

Almost at the very same time, several big furniture factories in a town a few states distant suddenly shut down and threw three thousand skilled workers out of employment, so that they had to scatter and look for work.

> If this manufacturer of war supplies had done the obvious thing-had gone to the U. S. Employment Service for help, he would have gotten the men from the shut down furniture factories. He would have saved time, money, effort. The men would have had new jobs quickly and his neighbors would not have suffered.

If employers will look for workmen and employees will seek jobs through the U. S. Employment Service, the men can get the right jobs, and the jobs can get the right men, the country over. The supply of labor and the demand can be intelligently adjusted to the benefit of all concerned.

The U. S. Employment Service is the Nation's central machine for fitting labor and industry together to help win the war. It has over 500 branches and 20,000 U. S. Public Service Reserve enrollment agencies, which provide local representation throughout the United States. Skilled and unskilled labor, seeking employment, is asked by the Government to register with the U. S. Employment Service in every instance. Always make use of the nearest office or agent.
